Boyril has layed such a conspicuous part in South Africa that it forms no inconsiderable feature of the story. The 'Lancet' has had frequent references to Bovril in the reports of the officers of sent by instructing the Manager, Mr A. B. the Royal Army Medical Corps. Nearly Tyre, at the Factory. We pay Duty at every newspaper correspondent has had to Home. refer to Boyril to make his story complete. Rudyard Kipling and Baden-Powell have written their Bovril stories. Over 500 British hospitals and similar public in PARIS stitutions use and prescribe Bovril, not beef tea, but Bovril.

The reason is not far to seek. Bovril is a neurnisher as well as a stimulant. It contains the albumen and fibrine, the sustaining properties of the beef. It is this fact, together with its absolute purity, that commends Boyril to physcians and scientists, and proves in practice what it demonstrates in analysis.

OSCULATORY.

Look Before You Kiss. A very lively scene was unexpectedly represented for the benefit of the public in the most frequented thoroughfare of golden-demed Moscow lately. Near the Kooznetsky Bridge, where pretty little slodges, gracefully covered with manyhued network, glide noiselessly over the sparkling snow, a man was seen walking briskly along with a pretty woman on his arm. People were too busy with their own affairs to take any notice of an idyll which is not exactly uncommon. But one young lady was an exception to the rule. She caught sight of the face of the man, and, breaking away from her prossic husband, shouted, 'It's Gorky' it's the great Maxim Gorky Welcome to Moscow!' Darting up to the blushing smiling object of her admiration,

SHE FLUNG HERSELF INTO HIS ARMS and exclaimed, Renowned Maxim Gorkyl Let me give you a kiss for your last drama. It is immortal, as you will be. By this time a few bystanders had gathered round the group, and soon the few became many. and some of them should 'Maxim Gorky! as soon as they had heard that the literary tramp stood before them in the body. The lady kissed him repeatedly, but her tone soon changed into a shrill scream when the fair one whose bridegroom had been thus suddenly pounced upon took to belabour-

There was soon such a chassez croisez at the Kooznetsky Bridge that the trim little sledges pul-SATURDAY, led up to lot their occupants get a glimpso the 7th March, at 2.30 a.m., at his of the unwonted spectacle. At last the police imposed a truce upon all the belligor-ents, and took them to the station for explanation, where it was made clear that Maxim Gorky was hundreds of miles distant at the time, and that a wellroad and enthusiastic married lady had publicly embraced and kissed a strange man, who was, TEAK WARDROBES, WASHSTANDS, TOILET | walking innocently with his betrothed, thus the charge taken at the station.

LIFE'S HAPPIEST PERIOD.

When an ancient Greek philosopher was asked which he considered was the happiest time in a man's life he promptly selected the period between the ages of forty and forty-five On being pressed for the reasons which induced him to make this selection, the philosopher added: 'At forty a man, if he be intelligent, has lost his illusions, and looks upon the world as it is, not as he would like it to be. He is still young enough to partake of the pleasures of youth, yet has sufficient experience never to permit his heart to rule his head; is moderate in all things, and wisely shy of hazardous enterprises. On being further asked which the considered the happiest time in a woman's life, the philosopher paused a long while, and when at last he replied he prefaced his answer by asserting that this was the more difficult question of the two. Finally he said: 'When she is too old to be called a girl, and not old enough to be called a woman without the word "young" prefixed to it. I am unable to be more definite, for the differences among women are greater than the differences among men. The healthy young woman sees only the brightest side of life, and to her vision the future is filled with golden possibilities of which the mental anticipation is delightful.

In this pronouncement it will be noted that the wise old Greek uses the word 'healthy' in a qualifying sense. Omit that word and the sentence at once loses more than half its truth. Here is a case which will prove our statement. From the age of nivetoen until I completed my twenty-third year, I did not know what it was to be well for a single day,' writes Mrs R. Huntley, of 65, Ultimo Road, Ultimo, Sydney, N.S.W., under date 19th June, 1902. 'But for Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup it is doubtful if I should be here to day to describe my experiences. My ailment was chronic bilionanesa and dyspensia. Words are inadequate to convey a conception of my sufferings during that miserable period. I was then a tailor's machinist, employed in that capacity by Messra, Godferson & Smith, of the Royal Arcade, Sydney. Ordinary food was poison to me, and I was obliged to exist on soda-water, milk, plain biscuits, and dry toast. Even that fere would sometimes distress me to an intolerable degree.

My skin turned sallow, my eyes sank and were surrounded by dark, hollow circles I slept only by fits and starts, my alumbers being haunted and hamssed by herrible dreams and nightneares. There was a dull continuous print between my shoulders and in my right side. I grow thinner, until I was reduced to mere skin and hone, and became so weak that I could skin and bone, and became so wask that I could hardly walk to my place of business. Often the neise of my sewing-machine, and the close air of the workroom, would bring on a splitting headache that maddened me. Then there were tits of retching ans vomiting, which troubled me with great frequency. When there was nothing in the stomach to come up, I would retch and strain until became exhausted and faint, when my workmates would improvise a couch for me with their cloaks and jackets, and I would lie for hours mable to move. I was treated by three doctors; but I believe the medicines they prescribed irritated my stomach and did me more barm than good. After four years of misery I was persuaded to try what Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup could do for me, and within a few days began to mend at such at rate that eve your who know me was amazed at the improvement in my condition. The vomiting ceased, the has of health returned to my cheeks, my eyes brightened, and at the end of two ments. months I was in every respect thoroughly

THE BROUGHS IN DRAMA.

'Sowing the Wind.' Returning to Sowing the Wind after many days, the Broughs gave a performance, last night, which will not be soon forgotten. Leaving to one side the more daisy-decked path of comedy, the company opened for us the avenue of serious dramawith admirable effect. Ruskin has told us that 'he is' the greatest artist who excels in the highest flights of his art'; he might have gone further and come nearer the truth by saying that he is the greatest artist who excels right through the gamut of his art. Never since the world began have we had an Admirable Crichton in the real life of creative genius. We have had poets who were painters, too, and followers in the footsteps of Michael Angelo and THE RUSSIAN SQUADRON FOR Raphael, who could strum on a lute or clavichord or write a sonnet or an ode; but with the solitary exception of Wagner, who was as much a post-dramatist as he was a musician, we have never possessed one who could away our senses in two or more distinct branches of art in sovereign state. Man was not meant to be porfect, at least after his fall. It is the same with that Mr Balfour, replying to Mr Bowles in | part of which man is the whole, the actor, the House, said that the great expense | He is an imperfect being, and when you which the harbour on the east side of find him great as a tragedian, you will, most probably, find him a pigmy in comedy, and an ass in that most refined of all Thespian states, pure drama. With all his faults (and from the point of view of a moral seminarist they are many), Sydney Grundy has been the most power-Frenchman is made to look 'small.' La Tosca and Fedora are terrible stories beloved of the playgoor for the artistic splondour of their treatment: but place them side by side with A Fool's Paradise or Sowing the Wind and the superiority of Grundy must be admitted. Personally we have always regretted that a man of such transcendant talent should have contented himself with picking up the. stable straws of human life and gilding them as he has done. It was the same with another dramatic master of recent extinction, 'who went astray;' either of the two might have given to posterity a real dramatic expression of the life lived in their time, with its good and its bad points; but the one went back into the years of the Tittlebat Titmice to show us how miserother played with us as with marionettes. lesson that we must take things as they are, not as we would like them to be; and of this fact we get a prominent pointer in Sowing the Wind. Robbed of the aplendid language in which the story is told, denuded of those beautiful situations which form the mainspring of the actor's hope, opportunity, the play becomes a bald state. ment in the book of our lives which we must long to crase,—a page to be torn out. But he has told us that he conceived it to shunning repetition, or emulating its ly, we prefer the Sweet Lavenders of less brilliant brains. They are less subtle, less to appoint British advisers to the local true, if you like, but they are more kind to us poor erring mortals, and they don't shock us so. Mr and Mrs Brough first made, our acquaintance in Mr Grundy's mest powerful play; and, although we like them well in comedy, it is in the fuller volume of drama that we like them best. Last night's performance was a magnificent one. From start to finish there was not a weak point in it. Dressed to perfection, mounted with scenery in charming tune with the time and place of the story, and played with the nicest regard for each little degree of emphasis, it was a treat to follow the four acts. Mr Brough represents a type of actor now getting all two rare. Trained under the 'stock system to play anything as well as possible, he plays proposed to give yesterday's contesting everything well. In comedy he makes us laugh against our will; in pathetic passages he forces us into seriousness. We forget the actor, and lose ourselves in the character. That is the highest praise, but it is praise which Mr Brough richly merits. His Brabazon makes us sympathise with the spirit of the dramatist against our it makes us believe for the moment at anyrate that out of evil good may come, although we may shatter the house of cards, afterwards. Of Mrs Brough's Rosamund it is impossible to think without recalling those sweet womanly pourtrayals of such impassioned parts which Helen Faucit used to give us in the old days when Barry Sullivan and Bennett were content to tour the . 'smalls.' When the curtain fell on that emotional picture ending the third act, the crowded house cheered most enthusiastically. It was no mere casual 'hit,' it was a triumph, the way toward hich had been paved by other touches of true histrionic gift. Mi McIntyre filled the clother of the bachelor, Watkin, and depicted every line of the character superbly; as Ned Annesley Mr. Loyell shone; Mr. Orlando

Mr Oorne-Sir, before we part-Dr Atmson-There is no meeting;

Mr Osorne-I am not going to talk on public buness. As this is Dr. Chrk's 1 st attendant at our meetings, whatever it may be tous, prior to his departure for home. I thak it would be ungracious if we were to alw the opportunity to pass withon recording our thanks to him for the very able ad distinguished way in which he has cared out the duties of Medical Officer of fealth (hear, hear) during his period in the office. The evils which this Colony suffeed from some years ago and which disgreed the Colony have to a large extent disapeared, and apart from plague I think that is have no need to be ashamed of our healtl statistics. As regards plague now that wehave the nucleus of a staff organised to ght this disease. I think we may fairly lape for ultimate success; and certainly if the intelligence, energy and zeal of Dr Cark be continued in his successors, I have no doubt the day is not far distant when we shall be practically free and may once more hold our head erect amongst clean communities of the world. This improved suntary condition of Hong. kong is prircipally due to Dr. Clark, and I believe, sir I am expressing the feelings of all those whose interests are identified with the place in saying that we deeply ap- | Sensations in Drowning. preciate and thank him for his services. He has been a member of this Board for 73 years, and although under the new Public Health Ordinance he now ceases to be one it is to be sincerely hoped he may return with renewed vigour to the post which he has filled with such conspicuous credit to himself, with advantage to public interests and with honour to the public service. (Applause.) Dr Atkinson-I am sure that everything that has been said by Mr Osborne has been received with acclamation present. We are all aware of the able services that Dr Clark has rendered and we know how valuable they have been. We only hope he will return to the Colony after his leave, reinvigorated and able to fight Colony. Applause). Dr Clark-Thank you.

The reports of troubles in these two provinces are persistently and repeatedly exaggerated. As a matter of fact, the commerce of the West River is on the increase, increasing as rapidly as it can under existing conditions, apart from disturbances, which really interfere with it very little. The Kwangsi troubles may crystallize into something worthy the name of rebellion if they are not suppressed, but the so-called

THE magnificent TWIN-SCREWSTEAMSHIPS of this Line pass through the famous INLAND SEA OF JAPAN, and usually make the voyage YOKOHAMA TO Australian Ports. VANCOUVER (B.C.), in 12 DAYS, saving THREE DAYS to a WEEK in the Trans-Pacific journey, and make connection at Vancouver with the CALATIAL OVERLAND TRAINS of the CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY, which leave daily, and cross the Continent FROM THE PACIFIC TO THE ATLANTIC WITHOUT CHANGE. Close connection is made at Montreal. guebec, Halifax, New York and Boston with all Trans-Atlantic Lines, of which passengers to Great Britain and the Continent are given choice of.

Passengers booked through to all principal points and AROUND THE WORLD. Deturn tickets to various points at reduced rates, Good for 4, 6, 9 and 12 menths. SPECIAL RATES (first class only) granted to Missionaries, Members of the Naval, Military, Diplomatic and Civil Services, and to European Officials in the Service of Thing and Japan Governments.

The attractive features of this Company's route embrace its PALATIAL SPEAMSHIPS, (second to none in the World), the LUXURIANCE OF ITS FRANS-CONTINENTAL TRAINS (the Company having received the kighest award for same at recent Chicago World's Exhibition) and the diversity of MAGNIFICENT MOUNTAIN AND LAKE SCENERY through which the Railway passes.

THE DINING CARS AND MOUNTAIN HOTELS of this route are owned and For further information, Maps. Guides, Books, Rates of Freight and Passage,
